Why GMAT

- The GMAT is a standardized test that involves an analytical essay (AWA), a section called Integrated Reasoning (IR) that is meant to test the skills used in business school, and two multiple-choice sections in computer-adaptive, or CAT, format (one Quantitative, one Verbal).
- While admissions committees do consider many other factors (including your grades, transcripts, essays, resume, and interview), it is important to do well on the GMAT if you hope to get into a competitive business school.
- The exam is designed to measure the skills students require to succeed in the challenging curriculum.
- Scores are generally good for 5 years, although some top schools will only accept scores that are a maximum of 2 years old.

Why GRE

- The GRE General Test is a graduate-level admissions exam used by many graduate school and business school programs.
- The GRE provides grad and b-schools with one common criterion that can be used to compare all applicants, who come from all over the world and will certainly have an enormous range in academic and professional experience.
- Many graduate schools worldwide have started accepting the GRE scores as part of the admissions criteria thereby opening a whole new world of opportunities.
- Admissions officers consider many other factors including your undergraduate GPA, work and research experience, personal statement, letters of recommendation, and interview. Some grad programs also require or consider GRE Subject Test scores.
- The score tests verbal reasoning, quantitative reasoning, and analytical writing, giving a total picture of student's capabilities and potential.
- GRE scores are valid for 5 years, so even if the student is not clear as to which course to pursue she/he can take the test and secure your future by staying ahead in the competition out there.

Why IELTS

- The International English Language Testing System (IELTS) is designed to assess the language ability of candidates who need to study or work where English is the language of communication and instruction.
- It is a compulsory exam for admission into universities and training programs in the UK, Australia, New Zealand, and Canada. Professional bodies, government agencies, and immigration authorities also of these countries recognize the test.
- IELTS is managed by three reputable, international organizations - British Council, IDP: IELTS Australia and the University of Cambridge ESOL Examinations (Cambridge ESOL).
- In less than three hours, the IELTS test assesses all of the English skills necessary for academic purposes or for living abroad: listening, reading, writing and speaking.

Why TOEFL

- Test of English as a Foreign Language® (TOEFL) is a standardized test for non-native English speakers, which evaluates their ability to read, write, speak, and listen to English.
- The test measures student's ability to use and understand English at the university level. It also evaluates how well you are able to combine the above four skills in order to combine your listening, reading, speaking and writing skills to perform academic tasks.
- More than 9,000 colleges, agencies and other institutions in over 130 countries accept TOEFL scores. Other below organizations rely on TOEFL scores as well:
  - Immigration departments use them to issue residential and work visas
  - Medical and licensing agencies use them for professional certification purposes
  - Individuals use them to measure their progress in learning English.

It enables middle and high school students to crack the board exams with the use of incredibly developed virtual study rooms, anywhere and anytime. It is a unique, student-friendly, and trustworthy online tutoring platform that enables students to study from the comfort of their home.

Benefits

- Trainers with 1000+ hours of experience
- Exclusive access to online content
- Sessions customized to student's need
- Real time progress dashboard to prioritize

Our Pedagogy

- Our tutoring classes begin with an expectation setting, introduction session by setting a goal and agenda after a brief discussion with the student on his/her current learning need.
- This approach involves identifying the style of learning that works best for the student and in-turn adjusting the tutor's style accordingly.
- This is followed by an understanding where they are at the current level and working with them to get to the level of conceptual understanding that they need vs. mere superficial engagement.
- Each session is monitored for the highest standard of professionalism and respect for the student.

2Sigma Learning Gap

Achievement distribution for students under conventional, mastery learning and tutorial instruction.

Experienced Tutors

- Our tutors go through a rigorous selection process for subject matter expertise and are put through an intensive 2 month training program on driving student outcomes.
- Our tutors ensure they bring a high level of enthusiasm through positive reinforcement and strong student engagement.
- All tutors have on board have a teaching experience of 5+ years.
- A Math tutor with over 28 years of teaching experience.

why SAT

The world's most well-accepted university admission test used across India and around the world.

SAT scores are used by colleges in the US. Now Indian Universities have also started accepting SAT scores for undergraduate admissions.

SAT increases your acceptance Odds. This also makes your individual score extremely important.

Higher SAT scores can actually lead to scholarships/grants from the colleges.

Some schools also have honors programs that require high SAT scores. These can give you access to tools and events that other students don't have.

Why ACT

- A standardized test that assesses student's college readiness and considers your scores during the admissions process
- More popular for the US and Canadian universities
- Accepted for admission to all colleges and universities in the United States, including all Ivy League schools
- The higher the student's score on the ACT, the more options for attending and paying for college
- The test is based on what a student learns in high school courses
- Score on the ACT is based on the number of correct answers, with no deductions for incorrect answers

Why AP

- AP course catalyzes a students' transformation from a high school senior to a first-year college student, and that too even before you begin college
- College Admission Officers are looking for candidates who showcase themselves as college-ready, and score well on the AP will help you stand out in college admissions
- A good score on an AP exam can help a student earn college credits thus reducing some burden college expenses
- AP courses also help students qualify for various types of scholarships

Why PSAT

- A standardized test/preliminary SAT test administered for most 8th grade students
- It is helpful for students to get a fair idea of the format, types of questions, content, and timeline they are going to encounter during the SAT
- The test also helps in qualifying for the National Merit Scholarship Program
- The test format focuses more on the development of knowledge and understanding which is important for the success of any high school student

I thank Manya-The Princeton Review for showing me the way, when I was completely clueless about the test. The interactive sessions were one of the most beneficial sessions that I have ever attended. These sessions not only guided me about the test, but also instilled confidence in me. Above all, the friendly and supportive nature of the faculty helped me to clarify my doubts and improve my skills.
